COLLABORATION INITIATIVE

The San Diego Women's Foundation (SDWF) has long emphasized collaboration as a key priority in our grants process. We are seeking to increase our impact by partnering with other philanthropic funders.

This initiative is separate from our annual grant cycle. We will invest with other philanthropic organizations to support projects identified by a committee made up of contributing SDWF members.

The SDWF Collaboration Initiative may take either of the following forms:

Participation in an established collaborative

Investing with other funding partners in specific projects

Collaboration Grants Focus

The committee will determine the area of giving for each grant cycle based on community need and collaborative funding opportunities.

Funding opportunities will:

- Be aligned with the mission of SDWF
- Be oriented toward underserved communities or populations in San Diego County

HOW TO GET INVOLVED

Contribute to this separate granting initiative at any level

Committee membership is available to SDWF members who give an additional $500 to this initiative

“Just as women can do more than woman, organizations can do more than organization. By collaborating with other funders we can leverage SDWF’s brand, members and dollars for even greater impact on our community – in a nimble and responsive way.”
